Roland (b. March 7, 1906) and Grace (b. February 27, 1911) Campbell came to Llano in 1938 from Illinois by way of Arkansas and East Texas. Mr. Campbell was first employed by Stolz's Granite Works and later by Stolz's Hardware.

The family lived in Orange, Texas during part of World War Two and briefly in Arkansas. Each time they returned "home" to Llano.

Mr. Campbell designed and built a rock crushing plant and operated it until he sold it to go into the cement business. He retired from his business a few years ago. He remained active until ill health forced him to curtail his activities.

Mrs. Campbell is a homemaker. She enjoys her church work, playing her piano and watching football games on television. The Campbells have seven children: Margaret (Austin), Shirley (Amthor), Roland Jr., Mary Evelyn (Harned), Edward, Dorothy (Murchison), and Larry Dale.
